Korean Ginseng

Features of Korean Ginseng

The Korean ginseng has long been used as a panacea, regardless of East and West, and is one of the most studied plants in the world to this day. It is proven by the scientific name of Korean ginseng, the 'Panax Ginseng', which is derived from the Greek meaning allhealing. It is also well-known fact that ginseng was cherished and habitually consumed by King Yeongjo of the Joseon Dynasty, the longest-reigned king of the era. As Korean ginseng has high saponin content, it has excellent efficacy including recovery of body, immunity improvement, and blood circulation. Recently, clinical tests have been conducted to determine whether ginsenosides in Korean ginseng have the effect of strengthening memory and cognitive enhancement.

Strawberry

Features of Korean Strawberry

Korea's strawberry exports are mainly handled from December to May the following year. The sales volume of Korean strawberries has increased every year despite the relatively high price thanks to its softer flesh, high sugar level and low organic acid content compared to rival strawberries. The variety of strawberry exported to Southeast Asian market is 'Maehyang', which is usually harvested from November to April. The charming point of this kind is the sweet scent, and the high sugar level of 12-14 Brix. As the flesh is hard, it has a good texture and also has a longer shelf life.

Paprika

Features of Korean Paprika

Paprika is globally valued by consumers for its variety of colors, rich nutrition and low in calories. In Korea, it is largely produced in Jeollabukdo, Jeollanam-do, Gyeongsangnam-do, and Gangwon-do. Korean paprika has the advantage of being colorful and vivid compared to other foreign paprika, and its crisp and sweet taste is admirable. In particular, Korean paprikas occupy more than 75% of the total amount of paprika imported to Japan, and it has gained enormous popularity in the Japanese market. It is evaluated that a high-quality strategy based on meticulous safety management has been the key to success.

KOREAN SHINE MUSCAT

Shine Muscat, called the noble of the grape, recently caused a sell-out on social media. This is a breed of green grape that has no seeds and can be eaten with the flesh on, featuring large size and crunchy texture. Shine Muscat is a fruit that is loved by both men and women of all ages for its subtle mango flavor and sweetness, as it is nicknamed “mango grape”.

Reliable Healthy Fruits

KOREAN PEAR

Korean pear, which has a really good crunchy texture, has long been considered one of the most representative autumn fruits along with apples. Unlike crumbly low sugar western pears, Korean pears are recognized worldwide for their firm, crispy texture and rich juices.
